Demonstrate your learning

1. Go to the PiXL 'Rank IT' triangle and rank the benefits of learning French in order of importance for you.
2. What is the most startling or surprising fact you have discovered from your research?
3. Prepare a five minute presentation promoting the benefits of learning French. Create a PowerPoint and be prepared to deliver it to your classmates or as an assembly when you return to school.

Further research

Find out some basic facts about the geography, history, politics and culture of France and one other French-speaking country.

1. Use the PiXL 'Quizzing' template to show what you have learned.
2. Use the PiXL 'Boxing Up' activity to show your knowledge.

Prepare for A Level

It's important to start preparing for A Level French as soon as you've made the decision to study it. Here are five tasks that will help you familiarise yourself with the course and what it entails.

1. Find out which exam board you will be studying: AQA, EDEXCEL or EDUQAS.
2. If you are studying either AQA or EDEXCEL, follow the link to the PiXL exam board specific transition booklets and work through the activities. These will help you to gain an insight into the topics you will study, and you can start learning the topic specific vocabulary. (You will need to ask your teacher to download these using their login and password)

Book and Film Analysis

In Paper 2 of the A Level French exam you will need to give a written response to a question on a literary text and a film or on two literary texts. Complete the tasks below during the summer, before you start the course.

1. Choose one text and one film or two texts from the list set in the specification. (Consult with your teachers first.)
2. Read the book/s at least twice and watch the film as many times as you can.
3. Annotate the text as you read. This will help you find important passages easily when you start writing an analysis. Translate words you don't know. Circle, highlight, or note anything that's confusing, important, surprising, or interesting.
4. In the same way make similar notes as you watch the film. Rely on subtitles at first and then watch without them.
5. Write down the main characters' names and a brief description of their personalities or major characteristics (in English and French).
6. Use the organisation chart below to deconstruct the book. Start with chapters and then do themes, characters, events, scenes and literary or cinematic devices.

7. Make a timeline of the major events that occur in the book, especially if the chronology is complicated or confusing. Keep multiple timelines if the story jumps back and forth between different plotlines.

8. Complete the ranking and prioritise activities below:

- Choose the three most important chapters/scenes in the book/film. Explain why you have chosen them.
- Rank the main themes of the novel/film in order of importance. Explain the rationale behind your decisions.
- Choose the five most influential characters in the book/film and give reasons why.
- Pick out three of the most powerful quotations in the book/scenes in the film which depict the main theme.
