Chris Brett

Parent Governor

As a parent of two daughters, one currently attending Manor High School and another at a feeder school within the Oak Trust, I am deeply invested in supporting the school to provide the best possible educational experience for all students.

As a school governor, I bring to this role extensive leadership, safeguarding expertise and a strong commitment to education. I hold an MSci in Physics and Astronomy from Durham University and recently completed a Level 7 qualification with the Chartered Institute of Management, further strengthening my strategic and managerial skillset.

As a serving officer with Leicestershire Police, I have over a decade of experience leading high-performing teams and delivering complex projects. My policing career has given me significant expertise in public protection, multi-agency working and safeguarding of young people: skills directly relevant to ensuring a safe, supportive and aspirational school environment.
